A History of Samuel Miles Jones & Rebecca Crouse

According to my research, based upon the information I have been given and tracked down through an on-line records search, I have found the following information concerning the union of Rebecca & Miles Jones. Up to this point, we were unable to find a maiden name for Rebecca. In most of the on-line and available census records, she is listed by her married name of Rebecca Jones. Through my mother and her sisters, we were able to establish a possible surname of CROUSE. Through a lucky hit on an internet genealogy web site, that supposition has been proven as correct. Stepping back a couple of generations the surname appears as CRAUSS in an earlier census (pre-1860) listing for Rebecca's grandfather. But I digress, and will touch on this further in this essay.

A bit of a history lesson is needed at this point for clarification of some dates and locations.

Previous to 1784, the Province or British Colony of New Brunswick and the State of Maine did not exist as the area was part of the British Colonies of Nova Scotia and Massachusetts. Only through the American Revolution and an act of the British Parliament in 1784 did this area become the British Colony of New Brunswick and did not become a Province until the Act of Confederation in 1867.

Some of the place names have changed or have been amalgamated into other larger nearby communities.

Due to the custom of naming children after relatives, the given names kept reoccurring in successive generations, resulting in more than one person with the same name. As a result there may be one or two unintentional relationship errors.

It is also possible that we may be still related to Rebecca Crouse's family through some of the offspring of some of the Jones listed herein, albeit, at best, a distant relationship.

We will be working backwards from here using already established and verified information.

The principals are:

Samuel Miles Jones (a.k.a. Miles Jones) is the name that will be referred to throughout this essay. The correct spelling appears to be MILES in all official documents, rather than the more commonplace MYLES.

Rebecca (Crouse) Jones – previously known only by her married name as Rebecca Jones

Rebecca was born on December 03, 1855, in New Zealand (or Zealand) in York County, New Brunswick. Rebecca married Samuel on September 15, 1881, in Zealand Station. Less than a year later her death occurred on June 1, 1882, a few months short of her 27th birthday. There were no children. Samuel later married Mary Haines in 1889 from which this lineage is now descended.

Records show her parents as:

Father - James Jonas Crouse –

Born September 20, 1815 in Zealand Station, York Co., NB

Married about 1838 in Douglas, York Co., NB

Died August 28, 1898 at Zealand Station, York Co. NB

Mother - Rachel Jones – Born about 1818 in Keswick Ridge, York Co., NB.

Married about 1838 in Douglas, York Co., NB

Died – About 1890. (Unable to establish correct date as there was more than one Rachel Jones in the area at this time)

James and Rachel had 10 children in the following order: (their spouses are also listed)

1. Benedict – born Dec 1839 – married Mary Jones – died about 1905.
2. Elizabeth (Lizzie) – born Sep 1843 – married Urial Jones about 1862, died Aug 1921.
3. Anson – born Jan 1845 – married twice - 1. Hannah Russell, 2. Eliza Jane Estey.
4. Dean C. – born Sept 1847 - married twice - 1. Anstice (Ann) H. Estey, 2. Hannah Elizabeth Lawrence.
5. Comfort - born Feb 1849 – married Eliphalet (Lifey) Morehouse, Oct 1888 – died Aug 1921.
6. Mary Huldah (Huldy) – born May 1852 – married John Dineen – died May 1905.
7. Rebecca (Becky) – born 3 Dec 1855 – married Samuel Miles Jones on 15 Sept 1881, died 1 June 1882.
8. Samuel (Sam) – born May 1857 – married Phoebe (Phoeb) Ann Burt in Oct 1887, died Sept 1942.
9. Emerenza (Emma) E. – Born 1860, married Silas Edward Morehouse in Nov 1881, and died Mar 1891.
10. Trueman Richard – born Mar 1863, married Annie A. Estey in May 1895, and died Aug 1948.

Grandfather – Philip Crouse (Crauss) – he was a United Empire Loyalist arriving in the Fredericton area from North Carolina, USA about November 1789. He applied for and was granted 400 acres of land along the Keswick River by the British Crown. His native country is listed as The Netherlands. His son Gould was instrumental in having the settlement of New Zealand named after his father's home province of Zeeland in The Netherlands.

Philip was born in the Province of Zeeland in The Netherlands. When he was a young boy, around 1763 to 1768, presumably with his parents, he emigrated from Rotterdam to Philadelphia. Philip was in Salisbury, North Carolina as a young teenager and later lived on a family farm next to Beaver dam Creek not far from the present-day town of Crouse, North Carolina. He strongly opposed the rebels that promoted the independence of the American Colonies from Britain. After the Revolution, recognized as a Loyalist sympathizer, Philip was asked to leave North Carolina. He saved his money and in 1789 booked passage on a ship for Saint John, New Brunswick. Upon arrival he immediately traveled up the St. John River looking for land that he could homestead. He found his way to Keswick Valley where he applied for his 200 acre (later 400 acre) British Crown Land Grant. There, next to where he is buried, he built his log cabin. He met Sarah Burt and they married in 1791. Philip and Sarah raised 18 children, Sarah, Rebecca, John, Darius, Philip, Elizabeth, Peter, Huldah, Gould, Thomas, Amy, Polly, Urial, Jonas, Richard, Mary, James and Benjamin. When Philip passed away, at the home of his son Benjamin at the venerable age of 96 years old, his obituary read, "He had 18 children, by his wife, and lived to see 196 of his grandchildren, and 118 of his great grandchildren. He was much esteemed by all who knew him."

Grandmother – Sarah Burt – Yes, her family was responsible for the New Zealand (Zealand) settlement being renamed Burt's Corner in 1893, later renamed to BURTT'S Corner, as her great grandson, (from her daughter Elizabeth), Elwood was the Postmaster and her offspring had owned the local general store (30+ years) and lumber mill (20+ years). Previously, it was known as Cardigan Station, but was sometimes confused with the nearby village of Cardigan.

The Burt family was also United Empire Loyalists, arriving from the Connecticut Colony about 1783 when Sarah was only 8 years old. Sarah was Philip's first wife who died shortly after the birth of her 18th child at the age of 53. Philip later remarried. Sarah was born in Ridgefield, Connecticut Colony, the daughter of Loyalists Benjamin and Rebecca Burt. After war broke out between the American Colonies and Britain, Sarah's father joined the British Troops at Long Island. When Sarah was only 8 years old the General Assembly of Connecticut confiscated her family's estate as punishment for their Loyalist activities. After the war her family joined the great 1783 exodus of Loyalists to Saint John, in the soon to be created British Colony of New Brunswick. It took the family about 7 days to travel approximately 100 kilometers by schooner up the St. John River to the Grand Lakes area near Burton, where in 1785 Sarah's father applied for a British Crown Land Grant. Unfortunately Sarah's father died in August 1785 and the grant was not finalized. Sarah's mother reapplied for the same land grant as a Loyalist soldier's widow and the grant was approved in 1787. Sarah lived on this land with her widowed mother and siblings, and endured the loss of her father when she was just 14 years old. Frustrated with the spring freshets that flooded their land, they soon sold their property and moved further upriver to the Keswick Valley, arriving around the summer of 1788. Sarah met Philip Crouse and in 1791 they were married. By 1817 she was already a grandma to 6 grandchildren when she gave birth for the 18th and last time. On October 7, 1823, the Fredericton, New Brunswick newspaper The Royal Gazette reported that Sarah passed away "after a short illness" when she was 53 years old. "She was the mother of 18 children, and has left a tender and affectionate husband, with 16 of them to lament her loss."

Sarah & Philip produced 18 children listed below:

The proper birth order of Philip and Sarah Crouse's 18 children:

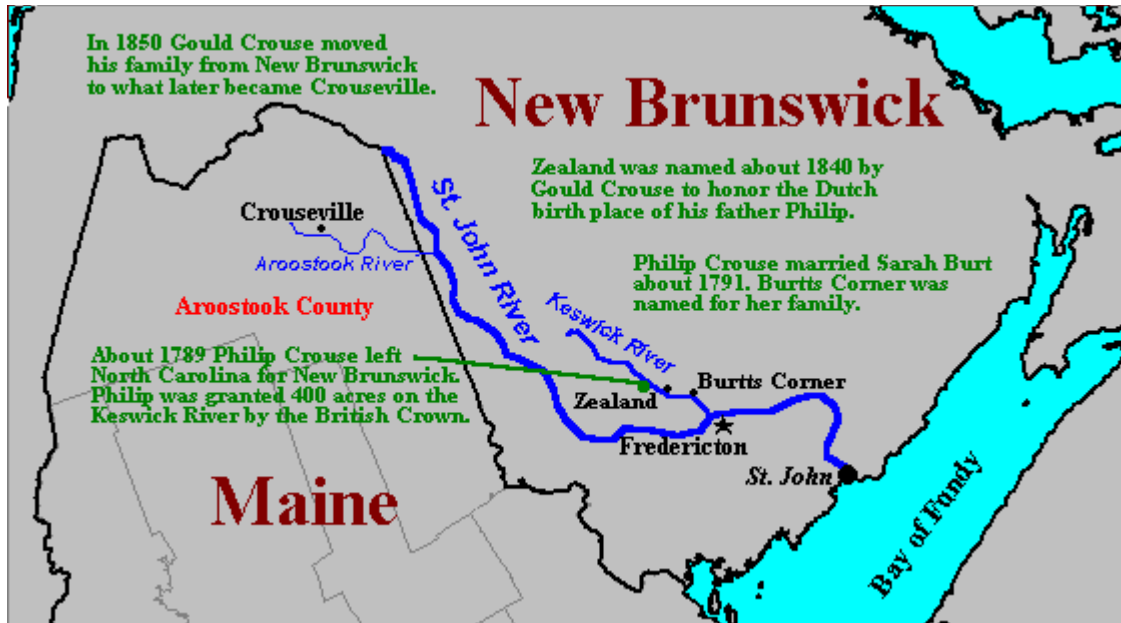

- |              |            |                        |
|--------------|------------|------------------------|
| 1) Sarah     | 7) Peter   | 13) Urial              |
| 2) Rebecca   | 8) Huldah  | 14) Jonas              |
| 3) John      | 9) Gould   | 15) Richard            |
| 4) Darius    | 10) Thomas | 16) Mary               |
| 5) Philip    | 11) Amy    | 17) James Jonas |
| 6) Elizabeth | 12) Polly  | 18) Benjamin           |

A Brief history of the Burt family:

Note: The Burt surname was spelled without the 2nd T until about 1860, when, for whatever reason, it was added. It may have been a misspelling on an official document and it became the official spelling from that point on.

In 1819 Benjamin Burt married Elizabeth Crouse, daughter of Philip & Sarah Crouse and settled near the mouth of the Keswick River near the present day Burtt's Corner. Their son Benjamin R. opened and ran the first Burtt's Store between 1861 & 1871. Benjamin R.'s son, Elwood, took over the store in the 1890s and expanded the business in the village. He also owned the village's biggest employer, Burtt's Sawmill, employing up to 60 people at that time. Because he ran the local store, Elwood was also responsible for running the local post office, thereby increasing his store business as it brought people into his store. In 1893, when the Canadian government was setting up a national postal system, Elwood arranged to have his store designated as the official post office for the community and himself as the official postmaster. During this time the community was known as Cardigan Station, which caused some confusion for local mail delivery with the village of Cardigan just down the road. With his position as the local postmaster and owner of both the store and sawmill, he was able to influence the decision to get the settlement renamed to Burt's Corner. In 1985, the Canadian government once again modified the town's name to BURTT'S Corner by dropping the apostrophe.

CROUSE LOYALIST CEMETERY

Here rest Loyalists Philip & Sarah Crouse, early pioneers of Keswick Valley. Philip was born in 1760 in Zeeland, a province of the United Provinces, now the Netherlands. As a young boy he came to America just before the American Revolution. He eventually settled near present-day Crouse, North Carolina. After the war, being a Loyalist, he immigrated to New Brunswick. In 1789 Philip petitioned the British Crown for a 200-acre land grant along the Madam Keswick River. Here, at this site, he built his log cabin. Ultimately he received 400 acres from the Crown. About 1790, Philip married Sarah Burt and they raised 18 children: Sarah, Rebecca, John, Darius, Philip Jr., Elizabeth, Peter, Huldah, Gould, Thomas, Amy, Polly, Uriah, Jonas, Richard, Mary, James, and Benjamin.

Sarah Burt was born about 1770 into a Connecticut Loyalist family. Her great-great-great-grandparents, Henry & Ulalia Burt, came from England to Massachusetts in the early 1600's. Her great-grandparents, Benjamin & Sarah Burt, were survivors of the 1704 French massacre at Deerfield, Massachusetts. As prisoners, and with Mrs. Burt eight months pregnant with their first child Christopher, they were brutally force-marched for 3-172 weeks toward Montreal in the dead of winter. Many died. Their release from captivity was effected in 1706, and aboard the returning ship Sarah's grandfather, Seaborn Burt, was born.

Philip & Sarah's son Gould purchased half of the family farmstead in 1831 and named the surrounding community New Zealand Settlement (today known as the town of Zealand) in honor of his father's birthplace. In 1850, Gould and his wife Hepzibah, moved their large family to forested land along the Aroostook River, which grew into the town of Crouseville, Maine.

"Mr. Philip Crouse, [died] aged 96 years. He had 18 children, by his wife, and lived to see 196 of his grand children, and 118 of his great grand children. He was much esteemed by all who knew him."
